Yuba-Sutter Nose Art

On December 3, 2016, the 940th Air Refueling Wing combined Commander's call with a Christmas party, and the unveiling of nose art on the first of eight KC-135s now stationed at Beale AFB. After commander's call, the hangar door was opened to reveal a static KC-135.

As the door of the giant aircraft opened all were surprised to see who came down the ramp — Santa Claus! Fun-filled faces were abundant.

Nearing the end of the party, Col. Craig Peters, along with Yuba County Supervisors Andy Vasquez and Randy Fletcher and BMLC board member Tom Walther, unveiled the KC-135's "The Spirit of Yuba-Sutter" nose art. The artwork includes the trestle between Yuba and Sutter Counties, the Yuba City water tower, and the Sutter Buttes.

Lisa Harris of Antelope, a graphic designer for the non-profit "Patriots Honor," designed the artwork. BMLC helped fund the Holiday Celebration.
